FALL MAY HAVE KILLED HIM. New Light Thrown on the Death of Frank Krieger. Coroner's inquest in the case

Frank Krieger, of Guttenburg, who died from injuries inflicted, as alleged, by Joseph Schultz on July 2, was not concluded until an early hour this morning by Coroner Parslow in Hoboken The causes which led to the fatal quarrel were clearly shown to have been the offensive remarks which LONDON, July 13.—A despatch dated at Alexandria. Egypt, stating that there were eighty-five choiera patients in the hospital there, and that forty deaths had occurred from the disease, was erroneously transmitted. No choiera is reported anywhere in Egypt.

The place where the eighty-five cases and forty deaths were reported was Tor, a small town of Arabia Petraea, on the east shore of the Gulf of Suez, where a of the face, but did not at first know whether the dead man's skull was fractured or not.

The most sensational testimony taken was that given by Herman Tallman. He swore that after Burber Brillantine and himself took Krieger to his home on Herman avenue, quite some distance from the scene of the quarrel, the injured man utteredly collapsed and fell backward down the high stoop of his house, striking on the back of his head on the sidewalk, and when they tried to lift Krieger up, the witness felt what he supposed to be a revolver in the injured man's pocket.

County Physician Converses's testimony showed that Krieger's death was caused by compression of the brain, followed by a hemorrhage, due to a violent blow.

The jury found that Krieger came to his death through a fall caused by a blow struck by Joseph Schultz, or by a fall caused by an accident while reaching his home.

The case is likely to be investigated by the Grand Jury. ELIZABETH'S FLY PEST.

"That others may profit b my experience, let me tell just how I suffered. Constant dizzinese made me fear to go out alone. Ringing in my ears almost made me less my mind. Pains in my chest, back and all parts of my body. I only half lived, for I couldn't breathe through my nose half the time, and I was in mortal fear of choking to death from the mucus in my throat. My tongue was coated and my breath was offensive. Finally I lost all interest in business, and was too weary of life to even try to find relief.
